The OCBC is a non-profit, volunteer-driven, cooperative bicycle education center. Our Earn a Bike program accepts donations of used bikes, which kids can earn by learning about bike repair and safe cycling. Surplus bikes are fully refurbished for sale or rent to support the organization. We also offer bike maintenance classes, shop-use membership, shop credit for volunteering, and the League of American Bicyclists' Bike Driver's Ed course. We are not a bike shop, and do not take drop-off bike repairs. We also do not sell new bikes, clothes, shoes, or non-essential accessories. We encourage you come to the co-op to learn, and go to your local bike shop to buy!

Membership

Anyone who contributes $40 (or 8 hours of time volunteering) per year, gets:

- First Shop Class (Basic maintenance and how to fix a flat)*
- 15% discount on all products and services
- One while-you-watch bike check-over (safety check, adjust, lube, and evaluation)
- Free library of books, videos and bike seats
- Regular members' meetings with rides and events (and free food!)
- Crankmail (local bike newsletter) subscription discount, and regular email news

*(after taking all four shop classes, members can use the shop and tools for themselves)

Volunteering

Everyone is welcome to volunteer; members and non-members, experienced bicycle mechanics and people who can't fix a flat. Volunteers are welcome during any of our open hours and during Wednesday Apprentice Evenings. We try to find volunteering tasks which are rewarding and educational, and usually bike related. For any time spent volunteering, everyone gets $5/hour credit toward co-op purchases.

Donations

OCBC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation, so donations are tax-deductible, and will be used to further our mission of bicycle education. We accept any bicycles, in any condition, and any bicycle-related items — books and videos or DVDs, tools, clip-in pedals and shoes, and good seats are especially welcome.
